few transfers from Marion Township Will Be Only Part of Redistricting Program Carried Out, Board Decides; Expect To Close 3 One-Room Schools.

All but a small portion of the rural school district boundary changes recently authorized by the county board of education have been revoked by remonstrances signed by electors affected by the changes.

This was made known at a meeting of the county school board last night in the office of Super. D. T. Mills at which the official outcome of the remonstrances filed against the board's program was determined.

The county board recently authorized seven changes in rural district boundaries. Of these, four will stand while three others were

CHANGES PROHIBITED

Portions of the board's program revoked by remonstrance petitions prevent the board from (1) combining most of the Grand Prairie township district with the Morris school district, (2) combining a small strip of the Grand Prairie district and a small portion of Marion township with the Scott township (Kirkpatrick) district and (3) combining a small section of the eastern part of Marion township with the Clenden school district.

Twice in Two Block Uptown Chase.

Thus, while the county board was out in four of seven proposed changes, the remonstrants prevented the biggest part of the board's program from taking effect.

In view of the outcome of the controversy between the county board and rural residents over the redistricting program, it appeared today that the county's rural schools will operate next term just as they did last term excepting that three of the six one-room schools in Marion township probably will be closed.

PROBABLE CLOSINGS

The three one-room schools that probably will be closed are the Reber building, in northwestern Marion township, the Campbell building in southwestern Marion township, and Smetzer building in southeastern Marion township. The portions of the Marion township school district these buildings served lies in the small section transferred to other districts.

Pupils near the Reber building live in the area that was combined with the Montgomery (Meeker) district. The area around the Smetzer building was shifted to Pleasant district and the territory around the Campbell building was transferred to Green Camp.

Tools Discarded

The deputy said Thompson drew down a screwdriver and a file knife as he broke away from his grasp.

Geissler had arrested Thompson at the Union Bus depot, where he had been trailed by L. K. McGinnis of 367 East Center street. McGinnis had been following Thompson, believing him to resemble a person he had seen walking down a hallway in the Ulrich-Philips Co. building about two days ago just after a purse had been stolen from the office of Dr. O. M. Young.

McGinnis identified Thompson as the same person he had seen in the office building when Thompson was taken to police station after his capture.

After Thompson escaped from the sheriff's office he ran from the side door of the court house. His line of flight took him north through the alley at the rear of The Star building near which the shots were fired. He then cut west through the alley beside Walker's cafe and north on Main to Mill street. Thompson, with Geissler closing up on him, ran east on Mill street and the deputy overtook him near State street.

Movement Watched

McGinnis had been watching Thompson's movements for the last two days because of his resemblance to the man he had seen in the Ulrich-Philips building.

Early this afternoon he followed him to the Union Bus depot and saw him sit down in the waiting room.

McGinnis then called Deputy Geissler, who went to the bus station to make the arrest. Thompson went with Geissler peacefully.

CHARLES H. FRANK STRICKEN SUDDENLY

Dies After Being Called Here from Florida by Illness of Mother.

Charles Herr Frank, 37, of Sarasota, Fla., former Marion resident, died suddenly today at 11 a.m. at the home of his father-in-law, John D. Gathery of 621 Pearl street, after a cerebral hemorrhage.

Mr. Frank, with his wife and sister, Miss Emily Frank, arrived last night after having been called here by the illness of his mother, Mrs. Marie Herr Frank. Members of the family recalled today that Mr. Frank had complained last night of a head pain, which he thought had resulted from the automobile drive.

Mr. Frank had been living in Florida for quite a few years and was the owner and manager of a restaurant at Clearwater, Fla. He attended the Marion public schools, University school, a private school at Cleveland, and studied law at Cornell university.

He served a year and a half in the U. S. navy in the World war. He was a member of the First Presbyterian church here, the American Legion and the 40 et 8.

Mr. Frank was born here Nov. 14, 1898, and was married Dec. 30, 1920, to Avis Marie Gathery. Surviving him are the widow, his mother, Mrs. Marie Herr Frank, his father, D. A. Frank of Sarasota, Fla., and two sisters, Miss Frank of Marion and Mrs. Elizabeth Jacobs of Los Angeles, Calif. The body has been taken to the Schaffner Queen funeral home pending conclusion of funeral arrangements.

VIEWS OF LANDON ACCEPTANCE CEREMONIES

These International News soundphotos, transmitted from Topeka, Kan., show (top) view of colorful parade which preceded the Landon notification ceremonies last night and (below) Governor Landon as he delivered his acceptance speech in which he voiced a forceful plea to "shuttle business and free the spirit of American enterprise" as a means of expanding business and employment.

WOMAN HURT AS WIND CAUSES FALL FROM CAR

Mrs. Margaret Foreman in Hospital After Unusual Accident in Storm.

The force of a stiff wind against Mrs. Foreman's automobile traveling at about 40 miles an hour when the wind caught the car door she was trying to close.

The husband, Norval Foreman, said the force of the fall rolled her from the street over the curb onto a lawn.

Mr. Foreman rushed her to the City hospital, where it was reported at noon her condition is serious. She suffered two severe scalp wounds, a deep cut on the left knee, abrasions on the legs and the left arm, and severe body bruising.

Nearly 20 stitches were required to close the scalp wounds.

The Foremans had just left the American Legion and 10th & D. Avenue, at Rainbow Gardens, and were just east of Pennsylvania Avenue near Center street when the accident occurred shortly after midnight.

Mr. Foreman, who was driving, had noticed the door next to Mrs. Foreman was partly latched and asked her to close it.

Mrs. Foreman hurried partly around in her seat, he said, and unlatched the door, only to have it snap outward, pulling her with it.

JOHN HAMILTON TO REPORT ON NEW DEAL FOES

Other Chieftains Await Reaction to Speech Demanding Efficiency, Constitutionality.

KANSAN HITS FUMBLING

Also Deplores Increased Authority Delegated to President by Congress.

By the Associated Press

TOPEKA, Kan., July 24 — Gov. Alf M. Landon announced his chief aims today to develop a better hit strategy for getting what he calls the new deal "out of the political campaign." "To restore our government to one of honest as well as constitutional basis."

John D. M. Hamilton, the up-and-coming freshman from an eastern swing seat, conferences with Gov. Roosevelt. Roosevelt was called to the governor's desk.

In turn, visiting Republican chieftains, national committeemen and state chairmen anticipated a personal chat with their presidential candidate.

ANALYSTS' REACTION

The possible gladness was the nation's reaction to the speech by which Landon formally accepted the upstart nomination of his party's national convention.

He told a vast throng which blotted out the south lawn of the 16-acre Capital square for "outfit edition night" that "the time has come to adapt this building with recovery" and "to restore and to maintain a free competitive system, a system under which, and only under which, can there be independence, equality of opportunity, and work for all."

The crowd approved the 16-year-old Kansas executive from the start. Again and again he was interrupted by applause. A demonstration of shooting, flag waving and band playing lasted nearly 10 minutes when he stepped forward to speak.

"Shall we continue to delegate more and more power to the chief executive?" "No, no, no," shouted the crowd in one of the most enthusiastic outbursts of the evening.

AMERICAN FORM ALTERNATIVE

"Or do we desire to preserve the American form of government?" Landon continued.

"Yes, yes, yes," came back the roar.

Once started on his 600-word address, Landon read in a serious, intent tone. He used no gestures, but now and then nodded his head and clapped words for special emphasis. Not until he had concluded did he smile and was again interrupted.

As he had when he walked onto the platform.

Smiling and Mrs. Landon smiling at him at bursts of applause. Next at the governor's 70-year-old father, Peggy Anna Landon, 19, and her daughter, had an ear for the crowd and happenings in the press box.

Hamilton opened the formal ceremony which climaxed a day of pageantry. Brig. Gen. Milton R. McAdam, Kansas adjutant general, was named to pull for a week today after a hearing on a charge of producing a weapon "with intent to alarm his neighbors."

The decision to grant a command pending continuance of the hearing next Friday was made after Alfred Kersten, counsel for the prisoner, had announced McAdam wished to testify himself and to call witnesses.

Sitting in the grim Bow street police station courtroom in the heart of Covent Garden, novelist, the champion McAdam heard Special Constable Anthony Gordon tell how he smashed at the prisoner's pasty hand when King Edward rode by on Constitution Hill eight days ago.

LONDON, July 24 — George Andrew McAdam told Bruton who drew a revolver at King Edward's military parade, was remanded to pull for a week today after a hearing on a charge of producing a weapon "with intent to alarm his neighbors."

One started on his 600-word address, Landon read in a serious, intent tone. He used no gestures, but now and then nodded his head and clapped words for special emphasis. Not until he had concluded did he smile and was again interrupted.

INTRODUCES SPEECH

The Republican chairman introduced Rep. Bertie Smith of New York on this "happy and auspicious occasion."

The permanent chairman of the Cleveland convention then delivered the traditional induction speech, telling Landon "America will see you through to victory."

Landon was dressed in a light suit with his arms.

On recovery and relief, the Republican nominee said: "The time has come to make the initiative and free the spirit of American enterprise. We must be free from ignorant governmental intimidation and hostility from private monopolistic control." Those who need relief will get it.

Party Lines Split Reaction To Landon Talk in Topeka

By the Associated Press

WASHINGTON, July 24 — The capital sought today to evaluate public reaction to Alf M. Landon's acceptance speech as new deal and Republican leaders tried conflicting opinions about it.

Soon after the Kansas governor had declared before a throng at Topeka that the object of his presidential race is "to restore our government to an efficient as well as constitutional basis," the flow of conflicting statements began.

That came from Republican descriptions of it as a "deliberate presentation of the principles of simplicity, honesty and economy in government" to a Roosevelt supporters' statement that it was "despotic and tyrannical."

The former opinion was expressed by Col. Frank Knox, Landon's running mate, who said at Manchester, N. H.

"It reveals the rugged honesty, the quiet determination, the warm sympathy of Landon as a man. It is just what the country expected—no fireworks, no fancy phrases, no pretense. Undoubtedly the people will see, in this address, and in this man, the order and the superintendent put in. "Get out, Purley shrank his eyes viciously at this interruption.

BY LAWRENCE W. MEYNELL

"To see if there was anything doing. Once I knew the old boy was pretty close and all that, but I thought no harm in letting a fellow go, so up I went. There's a kind of a back drive runs up the house from the lane and I was just about turning in there when I heard someone coming down it. I drew back a bit into the shadow and in about 'alt a minute along comes the sergeant."

"The what?" Hylton asked.

have made a mistake.

But when I saw on as I, a plan, I did—see Sergeant. The start of the roads fifty miles and I thought him."

"What time was that?"

"Not many minutes after the accident."

"What had you?"

"Sergeant, I was in Ender-ton before last night."

Hylton stood at the camp with a worried expression on his face. He was trembly, ready to leave from the lane and I was just about turning in there when I heard someone coming down it. I drew back a bit into the shadow and in about 'alt a minute along comes the sergeant."

"The what?" Hylton asked.

"The police sergeant from Ender-ton. I was near it, I thought there was nothing."

"Mister Alf Durley said with great earnestness, 'I beat it straight to the Ops at Enderton. I was there before, but I can prove it.'

"Why are you suddenly telling us this, Mr. Durley?" He then asked. "Why one tale last night and another now?"

"Because I've been thinking Master and I'm not quite a fool yet. First thing I says to myself when I heard the old boy had been so bushed was, 'You old year tempt Alf Durley, then as decent speak isn't get into trouble, I says. All right. Then comes yesterday, me asking for a lift innocent-like and copping all this packet of trouble."

"I was fair put about I can tell you, especially when you run into Sergeant White's 'ouse. I told the tale as I thought best at the moment leaving out about going any nearer the big 'ouse than the end of the lane. But last night in the cell I had time to think a bit more, and I thought, 'suppose the Sergeant saw me same time as I seen him.'

"My Gawd, that put me in a sweat. I don't mind telling you Master. I could get myself hanged next. So this afternoon I decided I might as well tell the extra bit and that's Gawd's own Gospel truth master if it's on me death bed."

"Send him back to the cell, Sir," Hylton said after a long pause and when Mr. Alf Durley had been duly disposed of the two police officers faced each other.

"Well what do you make of it?" the Superintendent asked.

Hylton shook his head. "I honestly don't know what to make of it. He must be lying of course, but why?"

"Should be go to all this trouble to lie?"

"Damnit all that's just what I'm asking."

"Unless he really is scared that White saw him there then."

"But White wasn't there then, that's the whole point; he didn't get to the house until well after nine, we know that."

"No, that's right, Inspector. I can't help thinking that fellow is telling the truth, somehow."

"Who, Durley?" Hylton laughed.

"Well, to put your mind to rest I'll go straight back to White and see what he says about the whole thing."

"Well, maybe that's best. Shall I under the car for you?"

Hylton stopped the car at the hoops and sent it back from there. He was feeling so savagely hungry that he decided his interview with Sergeant White could be postponed for twenty minutes. This interval was put to excellent use in the back room at the Hoops and it was a more cheerful Hylton who set out on foot later for the Police Station.

Indianapolis Drives Out 20 Hits Against Saint's Red Birds Rained Out

By the Associated Press
CHICAGO, July 23.—The Red Birds are out of the picture for the time being, as the result of the 17-4 loss to the St. Paul team, which has been made in the American League, thus far this year, in the 20 games which have been played in the National League.

Jack Wharrett, Colgate, in field, continues to lead the home run parade with 30 four-burners. Huber, in the 10th, got the number of 10 runs, 10 runs, and the home run hit. The Red Birds had 17 hits, one with a tie. Blaauw, with 29, and Jim Gandy, with 17, got the hits. Millie, who has to be credited as a legitimate Hall of Fame, batted out 20 hits. Colgate, yet again, Columbus slacker, has 18.

These totals can be compared with the big three of the day, 18, 17, and 16, being of the Yankees, with 28, Jimmy Pox, Boston, with 26, and Hall of Famer of Cleveland, with 25.

Only two games were played yesterday with the Kansas City Indians and the Milwaukee Indians tied at 9 to 9. The Reds, reflecting 11 hits to 10, in the Colgate, who saw a four-run lead fail out when the Millers scored three in the sixth and four in the seventh, it was Milwaukee last game of the season at Louisville.

In Indianapolis, the second place St. Paul team, a trouncing 17 to 4, in the other game under the lights. The Indians batted out 20 hits while the Saints hit safely 12 times.

GRILLS TO PLAY YESTERDAY
The Sheralogs will softball team will travel to Lemont tonight for a game under the lights starting at 8:30 o'clock. Harold Miller will be on the mound to open up the strong Lemont team. Members of the Marion team are asked to be present at the grill at 7:15 p.m.
